"Grange is where I found so many people who share similar interests and beliefs.
It's my extended family and reaches across the state. The projects and activities we do are the ways we share our friendship and beliefs with others."

Laurie

"Grange is a group that supports a lot of people in time of need."

The Grange is the nation's oldest national agricultural organization, with grassroots units established in 3,600 local communities in 37 states. Its 100,000 members provide service to agricultural and rural areas on a wide variety of issues including economic development, education, family endeavors, and legislation designed to assure a strong and viable rural America. The Grange was formed in the years following the American Civil War to unite private citizens in improving the economic and social position of the nation's farm population. Over the past 140 years, it has evolved to include non-farm rural families and communities.

The Grange is also a fraternal order known as the Order of Patrons of Husbandry, hence the "P of H" on the organization's logo. Founding members determined that a fraternal organization would best be able to combine loyalty and democratic ideas to provide service to others. The National Grange was one of the first formal groups to admit women to membership on the basis of equality with men.
